

Practice Retreat

January 22-24th, 2017

FAQs

How is this similar/different to last year's retreat?

The retreat will be largely similar (spiritual practices with Fr Michael, plenty of holy space, etc), but also focus a little more on the concrete, practical ways to flesh out unforced rhythms in our church communities. Tuesday morning will include a few more voices to share their experience and launch us into learning together.

What are my transport/parking options getting to the retreat?

If you are travelling from out of state, we recommend flying into O'Hare airport, with your second choice being Midway. Please arrange your own transportation to/from the airport accordingly. If you are driving from in state, check out Bellarmine's recommended driving directions here.

Are meals included?

Yes, all meals will be provided included in room and board at Bellarmine Jesuit Retreat House. With prior notice, the dining room can accommodate most dietary needs you may have.

Can I have a room to myself?

Yes, all rooms will be on an individual basis and include access to a communal washroom.

Where is The Practice?

The Practice is held at the chapel in Willow Creek Community Church, South Barrington, IL. 60010. Bellarmine Jesuit Retreat House is only a 10 minute drive away.

Who else will be there?

This will likely be an ecumenical retreat of around 70 church leaders, priests, pastors and worship leaders from different churches and backgrounds who want to live into unforced rhythms of grace in their own lives and with their communities.
